INTRODUCTION

The ODL system is characterised by a flexible nature in which the learner is engaged in anytime anywhere learning. The system is also characterised by the heterogeneous and diverse nature of learners who are largely self motivated learners who would like to take responsibility of their own learning. In view of this, the ODL system attempts to provide a range of methods by which the teaching learning can be conducted so that the freedom of the learner is maintained. This is why in the ODL system, programmes are offered through both print and non-print media. IGNOU has from its inception believed in the philosophy of having a media mix in the design of its courses in which learning material are developed both in print and non-print. In order to conduct capacity building of new faculty, STRIDE organized the present programme i.e. Six Days Short Term professional Development Programme on 'NEP-2020 & Higher Education: Design and Development of Audio/ Video Programmes' in collaboration with Electronic Media Production Centre (EMPC).

Learning Outcomes

The learning outcomes of this STP were as follows:

- To introduce the role of multimedia in ODL, specially in the context of NEP 2020.
- To design multimedia and understand its pedagogy.
- To develop script writing skills for audio and video presentations, and develop on camera presentation skills.
- To explain the technical aspects of camera and other devices.
- To practice teaching-learning through audio and video.

Target Group

The STP included 25 new faculty from different Schools of IGNOU. These participants were those who had recently been recruited by IGNOU and have attended the Induction Programme organized by STRIDE.

Proceedings

The six days STP was inaugurated by Dr Srikant Mohapatra, Pro Vice Chancellor, IGNOU. He said that such capacity building programmes are important as they provide an opportunity to the new faculty for understanding the holistic nature of distance education. The component of media is essential in bridging the gap between the teacher and learner and helping the learner in their studies. Prof Madhu Parhar, Director I/c, STRIDE spoke about the role of media technology and said that this programme gave a new experience to faculty for integration of media in their programmes. Dr K D Prasad, Director, EMPC said that such programmes would help the new faculty to have practical experience for making presentations through television and radio. He hoped that the facilities of EMPC would be fully utilized for designing more interactive programmes. Dr Sunil Das former Additional Director, EMPC also gave his expert comments. The programme coordinator Prof Anita Priyadarshini welcomed the dignitaries and the participants. Dr Ram Chandra proposed the vote of thanks.

Director /c T. R. Keme

During the six days the participants were introduced to communication theory, instructional design, learning outcomes, integration of media and text, development of story board through a mixed method involving theory and practical sessions. The sessions were interactive with discussions and activities. These included from the visualization of an idea to the final presentation through radio and television. The audio and video studios of EMPC were utilized. The STP included evaluation exercise as per UGC norms.

List of Activities Conducted

- Visualization exercise – An interesting exercise was conducted with the objective of developing the visualization ability of the participants
- Idea to concept: script writing exercise- participants were asked to identify a topic from their course and develop a draft script. The format was provided to them for this exercise and they were given practice of developing their script with individual attention being given wherever required.
- Studio activity (Audio) – participants were given practice to conduct IRC in the Audio studio.
- Indoor studio activity (video) – participants were given practice to conduct of presenting before camera in the Video studio.
- Outdoor studio activity (ENG)(video) – participants were given practice to conduct of presenting before camera in outdoor
- Script presented activity – participants were individually made to present their scripts and peer review was carried out.
- Rehearsal for audio-video- rehearsals were carried out for audio/video programmes so that the participants could extempore face the camera/mike.
