Title: Induction cum Orientation Programme for Newly Teachers and Academics

Coordinator: Dr. Ali Asgar, Dr. Tata Ramakrishna & Prof. C.R.K Murthy

Dates: 15-20 May 2023

Introduction

Distance Education succeeded Correspondence Education long time back because of its demands and expectations of the people across the globe. It caters education to a large gamut of learners who are deprived to receive education due to some or other reasons. A few reasons may include geographical barriers, financial factors, cultural issues, family responsibilities, etc. Indira Gandhi National Open University (IGNOU) as a mega open university and identified as the central university in India has one of the important objective out of many is to provide education to all sections and categories of people to fulfill their demands irrespective of sex, religion, and age. It offers more than 200 courses across the globe having approximate 67 Regional Centres (RCs) and more than 2000 Study Centres (SCs) and with the Headquarter at Maidan Garhi, New Delhi. It offers UGC approved vocational courses and professional courses for the various target groups. It provides its learners various support services including self learning print materials (SLMs) and technological supports such as Interactive Radio Counseling, Teleconferencing etc. IGNOU as an apex body of Open University systems in India sets examples for other state open universities CCIs, distance education directorates in various universities. It prepares its SLMs in robust manner. IGNOU is recognized as a premier mega Open University of the world because of its quality assured study materials and technological supports to its students.

IGNOU is not limited with the above functions. It has other dominant and striking functions for the upliftment of education in the country. To understand the complexity and various functions of IGNOU, newly joined teachers/academics expected to know various functions of Divisions and Schools of the University. They need to acquaint with the system for their understanding and smooth running of their respective academic programmes. They need to get familiar with IGNOU activities and their roles and responsibilities for achieving the IGNOU objectives. To make familiar and orient the newly joined teachers and academics with all these issues, STRIDE organized the induction cum orientation programme to specifically achieve the following objectives.

Learning Outcomes/Objectives:

After attending this training programme, the participants were able to:

- Develop comprehensive understanding about the ODL and Online system of education provided by IGNOU.
- Identify various functions of IGNOU and understand the interrelation and collaboration between various divisions and schools of IGNOU.
- Discuss various components of teaching learning processes in ODL and Online system.
- Discharge his/her role as a distance teacher towards the learners' needs with sensitivity involved therein.
