

CMCHN

The broad objectives of this programme are to:

1. Update the knowledge and skills of health care providers in reproductive and child health
2. Enable the health care providers to render effective health care to mother & child.
3. The main aim of this course is to enable the learners to upgrade the knowledge and skills related to the concept of RCH and Integrated management of Neonatal and Childhood illnesses, community health and management, supervision, participatory training techniques, sub-centre planning and communication..

BNS 117

Maternal and Child Health Care

- Explain the concept of reproductive and child health;
- Describe antenatal, natal and post-natal care;
- Discuss management of MCH service at
- Explain integrated management of childhood illness.

Evaluation
Assignment 1 and term end examination 1

BNSL117

Practices and Procedures in Maternal and Child Health Care

- Identify general and reproductive health status of a woman;
- Assess the gestational status;
- Identify high risk pregnancy;
- Conduct antenatal examination;

Evaluation
Self activities and supervised activities and Final practical examination